Scotty Wood..

For more than 63 years, Milton W. "Scotty" Wood was the man behind millions of meals - meals that have been served to college students, hospital and retirement home residents, as well as physicians, educators and business people.

Wood founded the Allentown-based Wood Dining Services, which over 63 years grew from a small sandwich shop in center-city Allentown to a multi-faceted organization with annual sales of over $650 million.

It was that small sandwich shop, called the Home Restaurant, which became a regular dining establishment for the Muhlenberg College basketball team, who often finished practice too late to eat dinner on campus. Since it was literally down the street from where the players practiced at Rockne Hall, the Home Restaurant was the perfect place to enjoy a home-cooked meal. Scotty, who always had a soft spot for athletes, would feed the Muhlenberg Mules for free.

It was through the close relationship that he established with the team's players and coaches that Scotty was asked by then-College president, Levering Tyson, to manage the campus dining service. "I said I could do it in all ignorance. I was never even on a college campus," recalled Wood, whose formal education ended with a high school diploma. It was Scotty's first dining service account and the beginning of Wood Dining Services. The year was 1947.

In 1951, Wood Dining Services secured its second dining service contract at Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pa., and 10 years later, landed its first hospital accounts - Easton Hospital and Muhlenberg Hospital Center. In 1965, Wood began offering food and nutrition services to nursing and personal-care homes, starting with Good Shepherd Home in Allentown.

Reflecting on his success, Scotty remarked, "I started in business with a debt of $2,400.00; now I have a debt of gratitude so big that if it were dollars it could put a dent in the National debt.

"It has been said that a man or woman is judged by the company he or she keeps, just as a company is judged by the people it keeps. Thank you for making us look so good. If success means having been blessed with good health and a wonderful family, and participating with many others in the growth of a company recognized for doing a good job, then I'll accept the compliment.

September 10, 1913

~ a sophisticate ~ a helper ~ a philanthropist ~ a humanitarian...

... a man to remember.

"What I can't accept is the suggestion that I am a self-made man. This is not only embarrassing, but totally untrue. With out God's help and the help of many others, I would still be driving a truck for Swift and Co.

"When I think about my success, I always think about those who have helped me: family and friends like [former Muhlenberg basketball coach] Lee Coker, the company's many great people, our wonderful clients and our dependable suppliers."

Wood, who was born and raised in Allentown, graduated from Allen High School. He had five children with his wife of 60 years, Betty, who passed away on March 2, 2000. Four of his five children live in the Lehigh Valley and his son Scott lives in Los Angeles. His second wife, Evie, became a wonderful member of the Wood family.

As a tribute to his father and his ties with Muhlenberg College, in addition to supporting the school's basketball teams and Athletic Department, Bob Wood initiated the Scotty Wood Basketball Tournament. Held the weekend before Thanksgiving, this tournament has grown into one of the more popular events of its kind in the region. According to Bob, "It's a great event that brings several colleges together for competition and creates a stronger community interest in college athletics." Subsequently, in 1997 Scotty was awarded an honorary doctorate from Muhlenberg College and in September 1999 was honored again when Muhlenberg named its state-of-the-art athletic stadium for him.

Scotty passed away at the age of 89 on June 18, 2003. Muhlenberg College will continue fielding the tournament in memory of Scotty and as a legacy to his love of sports and his interest in helping athletes succeed both in the game and throughout life.

"Two fair-minded people talking one-on-one with each other can always find a way to meet each other's objectives. It's simple and inexpensive, which may be why it is so often neglected."

"I'm not going to wish you good luck in your new ventures; a gentleman doesn't need luck to be successful."

Thoughts Presidential ~ committment ~ integrity ~ honor ~

Look in the mirror. You probably do it at least once a day. And barring a botched haircut or a trip to the beach without sunscreen, you probably see pretty much the same thing every day. Now look at that picture of yourself from first-grade. Ignore the dorky sweater your Mom made you wear to school that day and look at your own six-year old face. Can you see yourself in those cute little features? Can you remember when you changed into the young adult you are today? Could you have imagined, all those years ago, what you look like now? Can you, today, imagine that you will ever look like your parents and eventually your grandparents? And yet, someday (perhaps today since you are reading this essay!), you will pull this copy of Ciarla out of a closet or cupboard, see your picture in it, and wonder how you ever looked so young!

So, to state the obvious, change is inevitable. And, despite changing fashions, graying (or vanishing) hair, thickening waistlines, this is generally a good thing. We human beings need to develop, adapt, evolve, move on - it's what we do. It keeps life interesting. It's good for us - at least most of the time. But it's not always fun.

I am an ancient historian. I am fascinated by the major changes humankind has wrought upon itself over the millennia: the economic revolution from hunters and gatherers to food producers; from self-sufficiency to interdependency; from a gridlock of more or less stable autocracies to a patchwork of democracies, tyrannies, theocracies, and tribal states. Our species made few of these changes by choice. The simple lesson of history is that human beings mostly change because they are forced to do so by shifting circumstances. And yet we are not powerless in the face of change, we have options. We choose how we will adapt.

~ perseverance ~ leadership ~ compassion ~ spirit ~ will ~ love ~ life

You, in particular, are not powerless because you have a liberal education that enables you to understand transitions, to know your own abilities, to reflect on your choices, and to make your life a continuing process of becoming more truly and distinctively the individual you were always meant to be. Helping you achieve this goal has been our mission here at Muhlenberg. Like the human race and the individuals that comprise it, human institutions also change and evolve. Muhlenberg is no exception. The College you have grown to know and, I hope, love, has evolved noticeably since you arrived. There are new buildings, new faculty members, new courses, and, of course, there is a new President. I look forward to my time at Muhlenberg and relish the changes that are yet to come. This doesn't mean that I don't value what this extraordinary community has already accomplished - they are what drew me here in the first place. But just as I value the traditional values and strengths of Muhlenberg, I hope you will continue to cherish this place throughout the course of its future evolution. We will need to nurture the bond that unites us - the College and its graduates - so that all of us are stronger, wiser, and happier as the years unfold.

If you are reading this in 2014, or 2024, or later, I guarantee that the face you now see in the mirror each day looks different from the photo of yourself you will search for in these pages. I hope you like what you see in the mirror, but I also hope you cherish fond feelings for that eerily familiar face you will see staring back at you from this yearbook. I hope you have been nurtured by the friendships you forged and the lessons you learned at Muhlenberg. I hope you find satisfaction in the transitions you have faced, the decisions you have made, and the life you have led. And I hope you will come back to this place from time to time, if only in your thoughts, and remember that our successors here are still doing the important work of shaping the future, and that it is our responsibility to help them.

Best wishes,

Randy Helm

Homecoming ~ Jason Mraz ~ East Fest ~ President's Inaguration

The Day...

Near Right: The Delta Zeta Sorority "Turtle" Scarecrow wins for best Spirit at the Scarecrow competition and impresses students and alumni alike.

Far Right: The official Scarecrow of Muhlenberg stands ready to speak about all areas of the wonderful campus and school. With Muhlenberg magazine in pocket and with umbrella covering his head, this scarecrow is ready for any question rain or shine.

The Court...

Below: Emotions of excitement, shock, and appreciation overwhelms Jody Seligman when she is named Homecoming Queen for 2003.

Left: Mike Fraclose is awarded by President Helm with the Crown and Sash for Homecoming King of 2003.

Below: Robyn Duda, Jerzy Jung, Socorro Sampson, Jody Seligman, and Kate Scalzo all stand in anticipation to hear the winners of the Homecoming Court for 2003.

Above: Matthew Menard walks Kathryn Scalzo out onto the field. Matt, along with Joshua Boyer, Nicholas Scarduzio, Michael Sabella, and Michael Fraclose made up the nominees for Homecoming King.

Above: Kate Scalzo shows us her stylish moves at the dance. As a nominee for Homecoming Court, she has plenty to be happy about.

The Game...

Below: Kodi Shay, Senior wide receiver, runs for yet another touchdown in this game against Dickinson as the defensive back fails to catch up.

Left: Kicker Adam Abramowitz sends another punt deep into enemy territory, giving Dickinson terrible field position and forcing them to punt the ball back to the Mules.

Above: Senior, Dan Miller, watches and waits patiently to step back onto the field.

Right: Coach Donnelly gives praise to his team, but doesn't let them rejoice too early.

Above: Running back, Mike McKobrad, dashes towards the endzone with an amazing effort and falls just a yard shy of a touch down. The Mules gained the six points on the very next play, however.

Mules - 50
Red Devils - 6

Below Left: Senior tight end, Robert Sherman, catches the pass deep in the Red Devils' territory, gaining yet more crucial yards for the Mules offense.

Below Right: Muhlenberg offensive teams force their way into the Dickinson endzone for yet another touchdown, bringing the Muhlenberg score eons beyond the abilities of the Dickinson offense to recover.

Education Department Statement of Mission

We believe that teaching is a professional and intellectual endeavor based in the liberal arts. We believe teachers have a responsibility to understand the implications of their work not only in regard to classroom practice, but in regard to the ethical, moral, political, and social realities which shape American education.

To this end, they will be critical in their response to these influences and advocate, both locally and nationally, for the needs of their students and the resources to meet the challenges facing public education.

As professionals, graduates of our program will have considerable influence in the curricular and pedagogical decisions which shape their classroom practice and will be actively involved in the governance of their schools. As professionals, they will possess a specific, sophisticated and research-based body of knowledge and use that knowledge to analyze events, frame problems and make decisions in planning, implementing and assessing instruction in accordance with state and national standards. Our graduates will recognize the dignity and worth of all students. They will be prepared to teach the full range of students for which they are certified, including students from all ethnic and socio-economic groups, as well as those with special needs and diverse intellectual abilities.

Philosophy is, broadly put, the endeavor to make sense of the world, oneself, and one's relations with others. As such, it involves not only attentiveness to the nature of our experiences, but also critical examination of the beliefs, values, and concepts we come to have through them. More than a subject area, philosophy is an activity — a way of life — that has sound thinking and good living as its goal.

The study of physics enables students to develop the important skills of deductive and analytical reasoning. It provides an understanding of natural phenomena and demands that the student be able to express an intuitive model of nature in mathematical terms. In short, the study of physics is the study of problem-solving. The skills developed help to prepare the graduate for the ever-changing technical world in which we live and for life in general.

Many great thinkers have necessarily occupied themselves with key political questions: What is the best form of government: How should the economic system be organized? How should relationships between the individual and society be arranged?...given the intermeshing of government and society at large, most major issues today are essentially political issues". ~ Dr. Slane

Political Science is important in another way. Our increasingly complex society needs literate and informed people who can take part in the political process and maintain the viability of the democratic system. Such participation is vital because the policy outputs of the political process profoundly affect our personal well-being, our national survival, and even the survival of the planet. Educating such individuals is the central goal of our department. "Recent political science majors from Muhlenberg College have entered most of the country's top law schools and graduate schools. Our graduates have proven that political science is an excellent preparation for careers in both domestic and international business, government service at all levels, banking, and teaching, to name some of the more obvious possibilities."

JUNIORS!!!!

Junior year means getting closer to the real world. Juniors typically know what lies ahead, as they apply for internships and make future employment arrangements.

Juniors can reminisce about their past two years at the Berg and look forward to one last year when they become seniors.

It's hard to believe that a year has gone by so fast. It seems like yesterday we were moving into our new home at Muhkenberg.

Sophomore year at college is a fun and exciting time. It is a time when memories of Freshman year are still fresh, and there is much more time to create even more of them.

By now, sophomore students have all found their niche at Muhlenberg. This year, our academic focus intensifies and bonds of friendships grow tighter, as we look toward our final two years here with excitement.

FRESHMAN!!!!

The freshman class moved in on Friday, August 22nd, 2003 on a day that would mark the beginning of their careers as Muhlenberg students. Freshman year is a very new and very exciting time. First-year students begin with a three-day orientation which gets them accustomed to campus life, campus eating, campus activities, and learning at a college. They are confronted with a new environment, but with the help of student advisors and faculty members, they easily adjust. This is a year to explore. First-years make new friendships, face exciting experiences, and create memories to last a lifetime.

Right: A group of Freshmen try to untangle a human knot during orientation. Games like this ran all weekend to bring students closer together and teach them the importance of teamwork.

Below: Games run amuck at Freshman Orientation as two freshman try to complete the final leg of "The Spider" trying to get teammates through the net without touching the net itself.

Below Right: Freshmen Justin Kennard and Anne Kuebler get to know each other over some punch.

Far Above: A tired freshman rests after a long day of unpacking and making new friends. The rest will do her well as in only a few days, she will begin on a journey through her first week of classes.

Above: Freshman, Emily Aquila, is prepared to begin her four years at Muhlenberg. It will be an exciting time for her and all her friends.

Right: Deborah Mazanek tries to cross the "Minefield" blindfolded, listening for her teammates to tell her how to pass safely through.

Far Right: An incoming student carries his belongings to his dorm where he will spend his time arranging his room to last him for the year.

New Experiences

Right: Incoming students are constantly bringing things from home back to school to make their rooms a bit more cozy and reminiscent of home. Here, an incoming student is still bringing things in weeks after orientation.

Above: Relaxing in the Red Door, students find themselves sharing their feelings about college, telling stories about home and high school, and talking about their future as Muhlenberg students.

Jessica Gotfried,

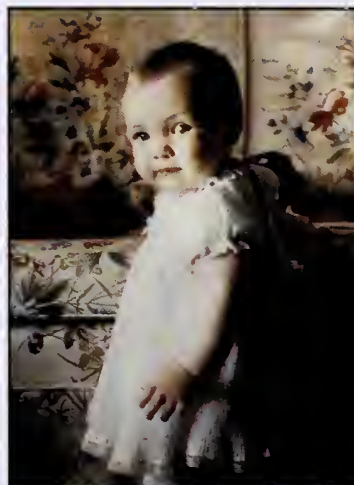

Time has flown by. Just yesterday you were an adorable child with a determined "I do it myself" attitude. Today you are an accomplished young woman going to graduate school and ready to take on the world beyond. We couldn't be more proud of you - not just for your accomplishments but mainly for the very special person you've become. We wish you all the love, health, happiness and success the world has to offer.

We love you,
Mom and Dad

Kelly F. Ward

"My mother drew a distinction between achievement and success. She said that achievement is the knowledge that you have studied and worked hard and done the best that is in you. Success is being praised by others, and that's nice too, but not as important or satisfying. Always aim for achievement and forget about success."

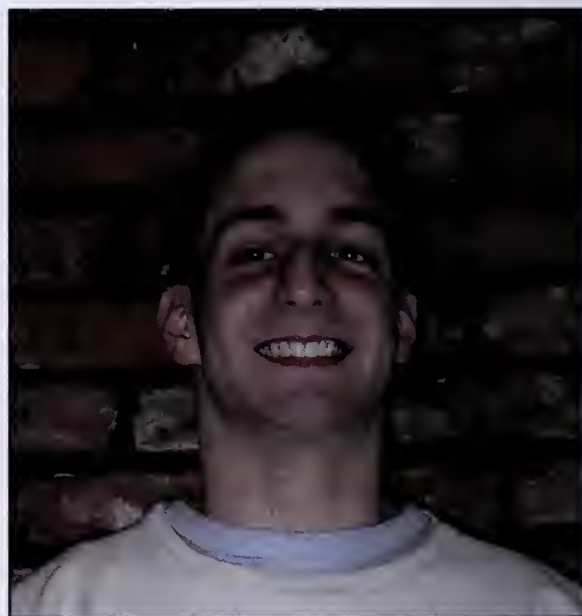

~ Helen Hayes

We are so very proud of you and for all you have accomplished. Your achievements, determination and dynamic personality will help you attain all your dreams.

Jonathan,
We are so proud of you.
Congratulations!

Love,
Mom and Dad

To our loving daughter Brigitte.
 Congratulations and wishes of lots of success and happiness in all your future endeavors.

Hoping very much that you will achieve and fulfill all those dreams that you were always wishing for.

Love,
 Mom and Dad

Matt,

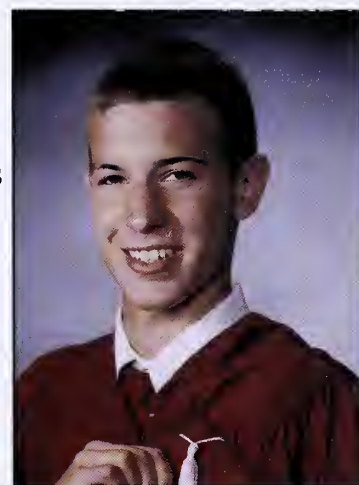

It seems like just yesterday
 we were waving goodbye to you - a young boy with freshman jitters beginning his first year of college.

Four years have flown by and today we open our arms
 to a confident young man, focused on his future.

We are so very proud of you - of the person you've become, the choices you've made, the initiative you've taken, and the hard work you've done.

Congratulations on all your successes! You bring us such joy. We love you so much.

Mom and Dad

CHRIS,

You have always
 made us proud!
 As your college years end, we can't wait to see what you will do next!!!

"Who knows where the time goes?"

You have been amazing us since you first arrived. Use your gifts to achieve all of your dreams and to make this world a better place. We are very proud of you. Congratulations!

Love,
Mom & Dad

David Frank

Parents often boast about what they have taught their children, but we want to brag about what we have learned from you. You have shown us how determination balanced with a sense of humor and a zest for life can overcome any obstacle in your way. You don't quit and you always figured it out. You're a "character" in more ways than one and you have been a positive rolemodel for your family and friends. As you begin in a new phase in your life, continue to be happy, believe in yourself and follow your dreams.

Congratulations!

We love you lots,

Mom, Dad, Jeffery, John, and Maisy

Hannah Roni Margoles

You have a way of embracing life that is filled with enthusiasm and commitment.

We are so proud of all you have accomplished. You have always had the courage to stand by your convictions and the wisdom to know your own mind.

Our daughter

How the years flew by! It seems that it was only yesterday that you were running around the house playing with your toys. We miss that precious little girl, but we are thankful that God has given us such a wonderful and beautiful woman.

It has been said that daughters are the nicest thing that happens to people. Through the years, you have shown us the wisdom and truth of that statement. We know how much you have enjoyed your years at Mulenberg, how much you have matured, and how much you are anticipating your next goal - becoming a caring physician.

We are so proud of you for all that you have accomplished. Most of all, we are so proud that you are our daughter.

We love you so much.
Your parents

Dear Scott,

You made it! Congratulations. We are so proud of all you have done. You are a warm & loving son and, though crazy at times, we still love you. May the years ahead of you be bright and successful. Have a wonderful life & know your family is always here for you.

All our love - Mom, Stacy, Scott, Elizabeth, Michael, Lindsay, Brian, Joey, Matthew & Caroline

Lauren

Through the best of times and the worst of times, you have given it your all and kept your focus - getting a great education, finding new friends, and making the most of your college years. You've done a wonderful job, and for that, we are proud of you. Thank you for bringing us all back home to Muhlenberg. It has been great.

We love you,
Mom and Dad

Even as a baby you were beautiful, smart, and determined. As a young adult, you are still determined, very very beautiful and of course intelligent. You make us very proud and fill our hearts with joy. Congratulations!

Love,
Mom & Dad

Dear Kristen,

You have made us so proud! We know you will achieve all the goals you have set for yourself.

Dear Rebecca,

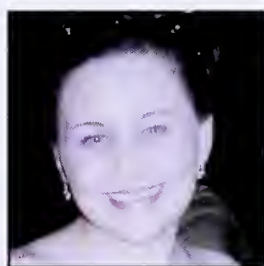

At this special moment in your life...

Think freely. Practice patience. Smile often. Savor special moments. Make new friends. Rediscover old ones. Tell those you love that you do. Feel deeply. Forget trouble. Forgive an enemy. Hope. Grow. Be crazy. Count your blessings. Observe miracles. Make them happen. Discard worry. Give. Give in. Trust enough to take. Pick some flowers. Share them. Keep a promise. Look for rainbows. Gaze at stars. See beauty everywhere. Work hard. Be wise. Try to understand. Take time for people. Make time for yourself. Laugh heartily. Spread joy. Take a chance. Reach out. Let someone in. Try something new. Slow down. Be soft sometimes. Believe in yourself. Trust others. See a sunrise. Listen to rain. Reminisce. Cry when you need to. Trust life. Have faith. Enjoy wonder. Confront a friend. Have good ideas. Make some mistakes. Learn from them. Celebrate life.

Lauren,

From a baby, to a teen, to a woman... Congratulations to our beautiful and talented daughter! You have made so many people so proud of you. We know that your future is filled with wonderful things.

You will influence the lives of many young people, and they like us, will be better for it.

Congratulations!

We love you!

Mom and Dad

Geoff -

It seems like only yesterday. Having you as a brother and a son has brought us pride, joy and fun. We love you and wish you the best in all your future endeavors.

Love,

THANK YOU!!!

To all our parents and all the parents who have and will stand by their children through the years of college, we thank you here and now. You may not notice us doing it, but when we walked down the ramp with diploma in hand, we gave a look to each of you and thanked you in a way only a smile can truly extend. You are the reason we are here and you are the reason we have made it thus far.
May we make you proud.

This is our purpose: to make as meaningful as possible this life that has been bestowed upon us; to live in such a way that we may be proud of ourselves; to act in such a way that some part of us lives on.
~ Oswald Spengler

Success

To laugh often and much; to win the respect of intelligent people; to appreciate beauty; to find the best in others; to leave the world a bit better, whether by a healthy child, a garden patch, or a redeemed social condition; to know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived.

This is to have succeeded.

~ Ralph Waldo Emerson

Thank you so much Monica, Wendy, and Karen. The work you do in Academic Support has helped us learn to help others, and thus without you, we would never have been able to say how many people we've helped breathe a bit easier.

Your work is not unnoticed.

A Brief History of Muhlenberg College

Muhlenberg College is an independent, undergraduate, coeducational institution affiliated with the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America. Founded in 1848 to provide a liberal arts education in the Christian humanistic tradition, Muhlenberg is committed to high standards of academic integrity and excellence.

The College is located in Allentown, Pennsylvania, approximately 55 miles north of Philadelphia and 90 miles west of New York City.

As a liberal arts college, Muhlenberg offers programs in the humanities, the natural and social sciences, and in professional areas such as business, education, pre-medical, pre-theological, and pre-law studies. Flexibility is provided with sensitivity to the individual needs of the student through course options and opportunities for independent study, research and internships, as well as through a plan for self-designed majors. Through a process of long-range planning and constant review the college strives to keep its curriculum vital and current with the rapidly changing intellectual world. The excellence and integrity of the Muhlenberg program have been recognized by Phi Beta Kappa and by some 13 additional national honorary societies which have established chapters at the college.

Most significant in its tradition are the historic ties between the College and the Lutheran Church. The name Muhlenberg College was adopted in honor of the "patriarch" of the Lutheran Church in America, Henry Melchior Muhlenberg. The sons of Henry Melchior Muhlenberg made important contributions to the early life of our country. General John Peter Gabriel Muhlenberg wintered at Valley Forge with George Washington; Frederick Augustus Muhlenberg was the first speaker of the United States House of Representatives; and Henry Ernst Muhlenberg was one of the most eminent early American scientists and the first President of Franklin College, now Franklin and Marshall College.

Muhlenberg College Mission Statement

It is the mission of Muhlenberg College to develop students who will achieve responsible independence, display full respect for the freedom and diversity which characterize human beings, and be guided in their thought and action by the finest teachings of the Judeo-Christian tradition, enhanced by a growing awareness and understanding of other cultures. The goal of the Muhlenberg College curriculum, as expressed through such diverse means as classroom experiences, seminars, internships, independent studies, honors programs, and study abroad, is to develop students who are not only thoroughly grounded in specific fields of knowledge but who have the capacity to question critically established data, assumptions, and institutional procedures, and who understand that liberal learning creatively synthesizes facts, values, and moral judgments.

In pursuit of this mission, Muhlenberg College seeks to demonstrate through its curricular and extracurricular activities that there is a necessary harmony between the striving for intellectual excellence and the values of a caring community, and that liberal learning, education for service and leadership, and training for a career are complementary goals. In addition, the curricular emphasis which manifests a healthy tension between the liberal arts and professional studies is a creative force which sets Muhlenberg apart. Furthermore, its students will continue to achieve the highest academic levels by pursuing the best in the liberal arts and sciences while they prepare for professional and graduate studies. Its curricular philosophy rejects all forms of closure of thought and recognizes the need for learning to remain open to reflection, to the past and to the future, to several modes of knowing and expressing, and to the movements and events of practical life itself. Accordingly, the College will continue to strive to have a pluralistic student body and faculty united in the common effort to understand human beings, their creations, and their place in the natural world in a truly integrated way.

In the mutual pursuit of this mission, students, faculty, and administration and board members will give witness to the humane fruits of education by interacting and working together with reason, courtesy, and respect for one another. In a changing world, Muhlenberg College remains firmly committed to the belief that a liberal arts education is both the most humanly satisfying and the most pragmatically viable.

Editor's Notes

Muhlenberg College has been my home for the past four years, and a wonderful home it has been. We have studied here and played here. We have made friends here and we have lost our ignorance. Each one of us has studied a particular field during the past four years, but Muhlenberg's gift to us is more than just knowledge of a field or subject; Muhlenberg has taught us the importance of community and the duty we have to give back to the world. Apathy is a bane to our existence and lurks at the root of many of our world's largest problems. People believe that so long as a problem isn't affecting them at the moment there will always be more time later to fix it. People live by the saying "Out of sight, out of mind." We at Muhlenberg know better.

Four years of classes has taught me that working hard is the only way to do well. Four years of friendships have taught me that keeping good relationships needs work. Four years of family has taught me that work needs to be there for both the good times and the bad times. Four years of life has taught me that being a passive participant in life is not fulfilling.

I wish good luck to our graduating class. May we all act and react in ways that make Muhlenberg proud.

Special Thanks

I wish to thank the members of the 2003-2004 Ciarla Staff. It got kind of crazy in the end, but we all pulled through and made what I believe is the best book our school has ever put out.

Good luck to Maddie Rhodes and Justin Soboloski who will be the Editors-in-Chief for the Ciarla next year as well as wishing good luck to Atom Kallen who will be the Photography Editor for the book next year.

I also want to thank Christine Murphy, the Director of College Communications and advisor to the Muhlenberg Ciarla. The time, effort, sweat, and tears you have put into this book has helped make it what it is. You have been a constant strength for the entire book and for me personally, for when the going got tough, you were always there to lend a helping hand a supportive word. We have laughed very hard together and we have shared good times. Thank you so much for everything you have done. The college will greatly miss you. Good luck in Law School.

Michael

U.S. troops in Iraq

The biggest news event of 2003 was unquestionably President Bush's decision to employ American armed forces to oust Iraqi dictator Saddam Hussein. The regime was toppled quickly, forcing Hussein and top members of his Baath political party into hiding. After an exhaustive manhunt, U.S. forces captured Hussein in a small underground hiding area on the banks of the Tigris River.

A powerful Category 5 hurricane slams into the coastlines of Virginia and North Carolina, causing millions of dollars in damage with sustained winds exceeding 100 miles per hour.

california burning

Wildfires rage outside San Diego, forcing neighborhood evacuations and destroying thousands of homes.

the big blackout of 2003

Millions of people across the northeastern United States break out the candles as a massive blackout cuts electrical power for several days.

an epic conclusion

In 2003, the one film at the top of everyone's must-see list was The Return of the King. In the final chapter of The Lord of the Rings trilogy, Frodo (Elijah Wood) journeys to Mount Doom to dispose of a very dangerous piece of jewelry. Meanwhile, Aragorn (Viggo Mortensen) and Gandalf (Ian McKellen) lead humanity in one last stand against Sauron's massive army of Orcs and airplane-sized elephants. Will the One Ring be destroyed? Will humanity survive? Will director Peter Jackson finally get a Best Picture Oscar® for his amazing work? All of Middle Earth wants to know....

workin' it at the VMAs

As always, the MTV Video Music Awards provided many of the year's most memorable music moments. Coldplay got accolades for Breakthrough Video, '80s popsters Duran Duran won an award for Lifetime Achievement, Justin got the nod for Male Performer of the Year, and Missy strode off with the coveted Video of the Year award for "Work It." To top it all off, the King of Pop saw some of his biggest hits covered with extreme vehemence by Lars and the gents from Metallica.

to swap or not to swap

With the launch of Napster V2.0 and the new iTunes music store, the Internet continued to reshape the way we listen to music in 2003. But not all was rosy on the World Wide Web. Fearing that online music swapping was eroding profits, the Recording Industry Association of America (RIAA) tried to curb unlicensed music downloads by supporting litigation against alleged copyright violators.

Fear factor

a little too real

Impossible to believe but true—2003 saw even more reality shows on TV than the year before. It seemed every person on the planet was being followed by a camera crew, from those searching for love (The Bachelor, The Bachelorette, For Love or Money, Average Joe, Joe Millionaire) to those seeking adventure (Fear Factor, Survivor, Road Rules, Beg, Borrow and Deal) to those looking for a sixteenth minute of fame (The Surreal Life). Of course, the show that started the craze, The Real World, was still going strong on MTV. Just promise us, please, no more Puck.
